H. APPEAL STATEMENT

The statement is set out in

☒ the box below

The local authority did not visit the site and did not measure the width of the original house. They assumed the garage and kitchen were an extension. This was a mistake of fact the kitchen to the rear is original as built in the 1920 s as is the dressing room above it. The local authority this incorrectly under measured the original house width from the drawings alone. If they would have visited this would have been patently obvious and an appeal not necessary. Hillingdon would not correct their mistake as the decision was made with no consultation

I. OTHER APPEALS

Have you sent other appeals for this or nearby sites to us which have not yet been decided?
