

John Allum

From: John Cook <johncookplanning@aol.com>
Sent: 07 June 2022 15:29
To: North2; Planning Appeals
Subject: APP/R5510/D/22/3298755 - 14 Saxony Parade, HAYES, Middlesex, UB3 2TQ

Dear Sirs,

Since preparation of the appeal submission it has come to light, contrary to information originally conveyed to the author, that the first floor extension, the subject of this appeal, has not yet been constructed as stated at paragraph 2.2 of the Appellant's submitted evidence. As a consequence, the sentences commencing 'At the Applicants....' and 'Through the passage of....' are incorrect statements and should be ignored. However, as these comments refer to the extent of the application concerned rather than the argument in its favour, these two sentences do not prejudice the appeal. That the statements made in these two sentences are incorrect statements would in any case be immediately evident to the appointed Inspector when visiting the site but for clarity, this information is provided at this time.

Yours faithfully

John F Cook