Good morning Richard

I have had the following reply from my client

We would suggest this policy is inapplicable to this proposal as the buildings were not used educationally but rather residentially. In the absence of consent the owner could simply let the buildings to any party as a commercial residential let unrelated to LST. Notwithstanding this basic point the LST have declared them surplus land as they have student accommodation elsewhere and the nature of student housing requirements are now different. In that LST have sold the land there is no longer any prospect of reuse.

I hope this answers the question you raised. If not let me know.

thanks

Hi Neville,

It should be going to committee on the 24th August. It hasn't been cleared by my manager yet. I will let you know if there are any issues.
