

This floor plan shows a rectangular building layout. On the left side, there is a staircase. Moving clockwise from the top left, there is a Bathroom, followed by a large Bedroom. Below the top Bedroom is another Bedroom, and at the bottom is a third Bedroom. A central hallway connects these rooms and the staircase. The plan includes various door swings, windows along the exterior walls, and a small entrance area at the bottom.

A line drawing of a house with a gabled roof. On the left side of the roof, there is a chimney. The front facade features four small rectangular windows in the upper half and one larger rectangular window in the lower right. On the far right, there is a small porch with a door and a window.

A line drawing of a house. The main part of the house has a gabled roof with horizontal lines indicating shingles. It has a large window with vertical bars. To the left, there is a smaller addition with a flat roof and a door. The drawing is simple, using black lines on a white background.

A line drawing of a two-story house. The house has a gabled roof with horizontal lines representing shingles. On the left side of the house, there is a chimney. The first floor features a large garage door on the right and a smaller window on the left. The second floor has a window on the left and another window on the right, partially obscured by the chimney. The house is drawn with simple black lines on a white background.

The image displays five distinct architectural line drawings of houses, each featuring a hatched roof. From left to right: 1. A small, single-story house with a symmetrical front facade and a central door. 2. A two-story house with a prominent front porch supported by columns and a smaller gabled section on the upper floor. 3. A single-story house with a wide front porch and a central arched window. 4. A single-story house with a central arched entrance and a small gabled section on the roof. 5. A large, multi-story house with a complex roofline, multiple windows, and a central arched entrance.
