Biodiversity net gain

This is subject to exemptions, an exemption applies in relation to planning permission for a development which is the subject of a householder application, within the meaning of article 2(1) of the Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order (2015)*.

Applicants for planning permission are required to make a statement as to whether they believe the biodiversity gain condition will apply if permission is granted, please confirm:

Dear Sir

Sorry for the delay in the response. In relation to your questions there isn't an additional restriction of roofs in conservation areas with regards to solar panels unless there is an article 4 direction which there isn't.

Therefore you need to comply with the GDPO

Protrusion limits: Panels must not protrude more than 0.2 metres beyond the roof slope or wall plane.

Height restrictions: On pitched roofs, panels cannot be higher than the highest part of the roof (excluding chimneys)

Location restrictions: Panels cannot be installed on walls facing a highway in conservation areas

Aesthetic considerations: Panels should be sited to minimize their visual impact on the building

Your roof proposals would appear to comply with this provided that the panels do not go above the ridge line and so can proceed and install the solar panels as per option A.

In relation to the panels on the flat roof these would appear to require consent. You would therefore need to apply for planning permission to undertake this work via our website.

For information I would ask your solar panel installer to make sure that the panels are as close to the roof tiles as you can as other residents have had problems with pigeons nesting between the panels and the roof slope.

regards

Neil

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.
