

There are two separate rights of way on the site. The current proposal respects these constraints, keeping the areas clear of any obstructions.

