

A 3D architectural rendering of a two-story brick house. The house features a brown shingled roof with a prominent chimney on the left side. The exterior walls are made of reddish-brown bricks. The front facade includes a large double door with a transom window on the left, a single window with a flower box below it, and two small square windows on the right. A small front porch with a black metal railing is visible at the bottom center. The house is set on a light green lawn.
