Officers strongly recommend that the scheme, as a whole, is re-considered in respect to its scale, size, bulk, massing and design. Whilst there is no objection, in principle, to the property being extended, any forthcoming proposal would need to respect the characteristics of the site and the surrounding area, including the adjoining Conservation Area. It might be beneficial to undertake a design context analysis of the other properties that have been extended on Halford Road. This could help to influence the design of the development so that it appears sympathetic and in keeping within its visual context.
